The 2023 Indigenous Nationals committee would like to acknowledge Sue Hill who designed the original artwork for the NITESG logo.

The event collateral for this year's Indigenous Nationals was created by Chloe Jones of Dungala Creations. The artwork focuses on themes of coming together, community and ceremony. The symbolism and gestural applications of warm and dark tones and various compositions reflect the waterways and lands across the Kulin Nations and beyond. The circular shapes reflect the different university campuses and communities connected through the local rivers and bushlands. The blue and white hues reflect the spiritual energies on land, water, sky. These spiritual energies are our ancestors who surround and protect us on the lands on which we walk.

This story reflects the people of the Kulin Nations welcoming visitors and friends onto their lands through ceremony. Through a smoking ceremony, dark spirits are banished and a new beginning and relationship is birthed. White fluid shapes reflect the smoke of this ceremony.

I am Aunty Diane (Day Walker) Singh, Elder in Residence with the William Cooper Institute (WCI) at Monash Clayton. I am a Yorta-Yorta, Wemba-Wemba woman, with links to the Wiradjuri people of New South Wales and the Taungurung people of the Kulin nation here in Victoria.

As the 'Elder in Residence' I, along with our staff, and students here at Monash University, would like to take this opportunity to Welcome all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander participants from universities around the nation to this 27th, 2023 Indigenous Nationals.

We hope that your experience over the four days of competition is an enjoyable and memorable experience, and that you enjoy many of the planned activities, and that you will form long lasting friendships with others from other Universities participating in these games.

The traditional Aboriginal name of Melbourne is Naarm and Naarm is the traditional land of the Kulin Nation. The Kulin Nation is a collective of five Aboriginal clans: Wurundjeri, Boonwurrung, Wathaurrung, Taungurung, and Dja Dja Wurrung.

Welcome from Monash University

We are delighted to welcome all First Nations participants, spectators and community members to the 27th Indigenous Nationals, being held from 26-30 June 2023. We acknowledge that these games are being hosted on the unceded lands of the People of the Kulin Nations, and we pay our respects to their Elders, past and present.

The Indigenous Nationals provides a wonderful opportunity to showcase the talents and diverse cultures of Indigenous students from Monash, as well as those from universities and communities across Australia. It is also an event where First Nations participants can come together and connect with each other at our wonderful campus. As outlined in our Strategic Plan, Impact 2030, Monash is strongly committed to fostering a society that recognises, respects and includes Indigenous peoples, cultures and knowledge by working with and celebrating Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. We see hosting the 2023 games as a way to contribute to this commitment.

We are especially excited to host the games in such an important year for the First Nations agenda, where Australia will hold a referendum on an Indigenous Voice to parliament – a process that we, as a University, support.

We share long-standing connections with many Indigenous communities throughout Australia, and are proud of the contributions we have made, and continue to make, with and for First Nations peoples.

We wish all athletes the very best throughout the four-day event and look forward to sharing in the excitement and success of our students.

Over four days, four sports will be contested with one university being crowned the Champion.

We are thrilled that Monash are working closely in partnership with the William Cooper Institute to provide a cultural experience for all participants that showcases the rich heritage of the region and will no doubt make this week an incredible festival of sport, culture, and unity.

The Indigenous Nationals connects Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people through sport, promoting positive role models, health, fitness, and wellbeing.

After celebrating 26 years of Indigenous Nationals in 2022, we continue to see growth in this important event across the membership, with 32 member universities represented this year. We are proud to partner with Monash University to deliver this event on behalf of the Wollotuka Institute at The University of Newcastle, the traditional owners of the event.

On behalf of UniSport, I would like to wish all participants good luck at the event and hope you make friendships and memories that will last a lifetime.

History

The National Indigenous Tertiary Education Student Games (NITESG) began in 1996 as a joint class project between thirteen students enrolled in a Diploma of Aboriginal Studies (Community Recreation) at the then Wollotuka School for Aboriginal Studies, the University of Newcastle.

The first event was attended by around 30 students and have since grown to host hundreds of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander tertiary students from universities all around Australia. Students compete in four core sports (touch football, netball, basketball, volleyball) plus a traditional Indigenous game every year.

Objectives of the event:

1. Celebration of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture
2. Promote unity, health, fitness and wellbeing
3. Demonstration of self determination
4. Initiating new communication networks
5. Reinforce identity through positive role models

Seeding process

Prior to allocating teams to pools, full seeding of the teams is undertaken. Seeding and pool allocation will occur on a per sport basis.

Due to the nature of UniSport events, teams are seeded for their competition according to the results of the previous competition. If a team did not compete in the previous competition, that team will be seeded below all others using the UniSport seeding allocation.

UniSport seeding allocation process

- a) Annually (usually at the UniSport national conference), a member representative from each region will assist the General Manager – National Sport Program in the seeding of universities for that calendar year.
- b) The seeding allocation process will see UniSport member universities drawn using an online randomiser program. The first drawn university will be seeded first, the second draw university will be seeded second and so on until all members have been seeded.
- c) For UniSport events that take place prior to conference, the random seeding process will be carried out at head office, and seedings implemented to the relevant competition.
- d) The seeding allocation allows UniSport event staff to rank universities in that current competition year, if they did not enter (and thus been ranked by results) from the competition prior

Seeding of teams for Indigenous Nationals

- a) The previous competition event results will determine seeding in the first instance.

Teams with no participation in the previous competition, will be ranked behind those teams in step 1.2 a) according to their position in the seeding allocation process.

Pool allocation

The number of pools allocated in each division will be at the discretion of the organiser however where possible, in events managed by UniSport, UniSport will endeavour to use an even number of pools. This may not be possible where a two divisional structure requires promotion/relegation within competition.

Once teams have been ranked, the international across and down allocation system should be implemented to evenly distribute the seeded entrants to pools.

Examples:

Two pools

| Pool A | Pool B |
|--------|--------|
| 1      | 2      |
| 4      | 3      |
| 5      | 6      |
| 8      | 7      |

Four pools

| Pool A | Pool B | Pool C | Pool D |
|--------|--------|--------|--------|
| 1      | 2      | 3      | 4      |
| 8      | 7      | 6      | 5      |
| 9      | 10     | 11     | 12     |
| 16     | 15     | 14     | 13     |

Point score system

Upon completion of each sport, teams will be ranked according to competition points (then by sport tiebreaker rules) following the preliminary rounds, with the top team from each pool progressing to the finals.

Finals are a single elimination format, with only the winner of each game progressing through to the next round of finals.

In the event of two or more teams having the same number of competition points at the conclusion of the pool matches, the higher placed team will be decided by applying the sport tiebreaker rules.

Once teams have been ranked upon the completion of each sport, they will be allocated a number of championship points (taken from UniSport Awards and Point Scoring guideline) towards the overall point tally.

The OVERALL CHAMPIONS will be the team with the most points from the culmination of all four sports.

Overall points allocation

| Sport rank | Points allocated | Sport rank | Points allocated |

| 1   | 44               | 18  | 20               |
